What is This Mum Moves?

TMM is an educational programme which aims to empower women to make informed physical activity choices throughout pregnancy and beyond by providing professionals with the tools to discuss physical activity during the childbearing years. The programme has been co-produced by women and professionals, piloted in five areas of England, and evaluated independently over the last three years. Since 2022, the programme has been delivered in partnership by the Active Pregnancy Foundation (APF) and Institute of Health Visiting (iHV).

3. To provide appropriate and timely advice, guidance and signposting to trusted resources;
